Do It...Just Once!

Perhaps you've considered doing it. Maybe someone once asked you to do it. Chances are you know someone who's needed it.

But for some reason you never actually did it. It could be that you still don't know why. You might be ashamed to admit it, but you could be scared.

Scared of...donating blood.

"If you've never donated blood, you probably have some misunderstandings or some unanswered questions regarding the procedure," says Carol Frevert, chairperson of the upcoming blood drive.

The most common fear brought to Ms. Frevert's attention is that the donation will be painful or will somehow weaken you. Fortunately, this statement is strictly myth and can be proven so by pointing out that nearly 400 people give blood each weekday through the Community Blood Center. If there were any ill effects, people simply wouldn't ever volunteer to donate.

Another unwarranted fear associated with donating blood is the fear of contracting AIDS. To this question, Bill Coenen, Administrator of Community Blood Center, cannot stress enough that there is no possible way to contract AIDS through donating. "Sterile equipment and disposable needles are always used to ensure complete immunization from the AIDS antibody," says Mr. Coenen.

"It is so simple and safe, you can donate blood every eight weeks, up to six times a year. But we're not asking you to become 'regular' donors...yet," says Mr. Coenen.

"Just try it once! After that first donation, there's no fear of the unknown, and most people become dedicated, regular donors, concerned with providing "new hope" for persons in their community."

On MONDAY, NOVEMBER 3, Avila College will be hosting a lifesaving bloodmobile. Avila will be responsible for approximately 85 pints of the 400 pints of blood needed to be collected that day. To make a contribution towards this cause, contact Ms. Frevert, at 942-8400, for your appointment to donate in Room 509-Whitfield, between the hours of 10:00 a.m. and 3:00 p.m.

Just this once, give life...it's in your blood.

Legal Assistants Attend Seminar

On September 26th and 27th Legal Assistant Majors from Avila attended a Criminal/Juvenile Law Seminar. The students went to the Johnson County Courthouse where they were instructed by assistants of the District Attorney on current issues after observing a criminal hearing. The students then toured the Juvenile Justice Center downtown. There they were able to speak with many professionals of the center including Commissioner David William Kierst who shared information on the structure of the justice system.

The students were later given the opportunity to talk with Randy Austin, criminal defense attorney of 18 years, who gave some unique insights on defending criminal offenders. The students were also presented with a mock mediation session put on by the Kansas City Human Relations Department. This service gives parties who are in disagreement a chance to meet informally and air grievances without cost of a lawyer.

The seminar was an informative one and the students were impressed by the first hand experience they received.

RHA Takes the Lead: Enthusiasm and Involvement High

Residence Hall Association (RHA), the programming body for resident students, continues to offer students that live on-campus the opportunity to become involved in not only the residence halls but also the campus community.

Events underway include participation in Avila College Day on October 15--a day in honor of St. Teresa of Avila, a trip to area haunted houses on October 26, a hayride at Benjamin Stables on November 7, and a fall dance to be held off campus later in November. RHA is also organizing care packages for finals week this December. Involvement in campus programming includes the sponsoring a Mocktail Party in conjunction with S.U.B., to promote Alcohol Awareness Week at Avila, Scheduled for next week.

RHA is a student organized, run and administered organization designed to provide an outlet for student concerns and needs in the residence halls. Student input is utilized in program planning as well as hall improvements. Meetings are held Thursdays at 9:00 pm in the Barefoot Room. All resident students are encouraged to attend meetings--your input really counts!!

1986-87 Executive Board
Members include: Donna Van Booven, President; Michelle Graff, Social Programming Chair; LaTonya Clayton, Educational Programming Chair; Deb Wernsman, Hall Improvements/Treasurer; Rossel Mazzaneres, Publicity; and Penny Newman, Secretary.

Editorial Notebook: What Are Your Options?

To drink beer or wine or soda? To drive while under the influence or call a friend for a ride? To watch a friend struggle with an alcohol addiction or to help your friend seek help? To seek help for yourself for an alcohol problem or to watch your life slowly slip away?

These are all options you have concerning the area of alcohol use. There are many more options available to you which you can become aware of during Alcohol Awareness Week, scheduled for October 20-24 at Avila.

The intent of the week is not to condemn those who choose to use alcohol or praise those who choose not to use it. That would be to easy. Alcohol use and abuse is a very complex issue involving many decisions and options. The goal of the week is education and self-examination not condemnation and judgement.

How aware are you of your options? Do you have any idea of what happens to you if you are arrested for driving while under the influence? Are you aware of the numerous community resources available not only for the person with an alcohol problem but also for the family and friends of that person? Have you ever considered planning or attending a party that served non-alcoholic beverages? If you attended such a party, would you ever think you would have a "good" time? If you responded "no" to any of the above questions, the answers will be available at the many activities planned during Alcohol Awareness Week.

Awareness -- becoming more informed and educated about something. That is what the week is all about. Since each of us, at one time or another, needs to make decisions regarding alcohol, wouldn't you like to be able to make educated decisions?

Responsibility. Isn't it about time you take some responsibility for making yourself more informed on issues that concern yourself, your family or your friends? Why allow someone else the opportunity to become informed on alcohol use and abuse when you could?

Opportunity. The opportunity for you to gather information, heighten awareness and develop decision-making strategies regarding the use of alcohol has been provided. A week filled with activities and opportunities begins next week. It will occur with or without your participation. Only you can decide to "celebrate your options" and take advantage of all Alcohol Awareness Week has to offer. The option is yours!!

An Abundance Of Skills

by: Michelle Rohde

This year in the College Skills Centre one can expect to find tutoring in a wide variety of subject areas. Writing skills and basic college survival techniques are also skills that the tutors can help you develop.

If someone is having trouble in a certain area of study, what could be more beneficial than enlisting the help of a tutor? Tutoring, free of charge, is available for almost any area by making an appointment. Paid tutors are also available from the College Skills Centre.

An important facet of the Skills Centre is help with writing skills. Weldon Gearhart, Coordinator of the College Skills

Centre stated, "Writing is one of the essential parts of a liberal arts education." Crystal Trumbo, a tutor for the Skills Centre, is stationed in the Centre and provides help with paper writing. Organization, structure, grammar, and spelling are some of the aspects of your paper that the tutors can assist with.

Your success depends largely upon the skills you have acquired through the years. Take advantage of the services provided by the College Skills Centre and continue to refine already developed skills and possibly acquire some new skills.

Community News and Happenings

UMKC Theater Department Presents "Merchant of Venice" October 16 to 19

Kansas City, Mo. -- The UMKC department of theater blends music, dance, drama and verse to present a glittering main-stage production of "The Merchant of Venice" October 16 through 19. Performances of William Shakespeare's dark comedy of revenge are at 8 p.m., October 16, 17, 18 and 2 p.m., October 19 in the Helen F. Spencer Theatre at the UMKC Center for the Performing Arts, 50th and Cherry streets. Tickets are $5 for general admission, $3 for students, senior adults and UM faculty/staff. Call 276-2700 for reservations.

The consequences of a daring pledge of friendship serve as the central conflict in "The Merchant of Venice." Antonio, the mysterious merchant, promises "a pound of his flesh" to Shylock, the moneylender, as collateral for a bond so that his close friend, Bassanio, can travel to Belmont to win the love of Portia, the beautiful heiress. When Antonio's fortunes are lost at sea, Shylock, angered by the elopement of his daughter with one of Antonio's friends, determines to collect on the debt. In the powerful courtroom battle, Portia, disguised as the judge, declares that "the quality of mercy is not strained" and then delivers a staggering judgment.

"Shakespeare is exploring the ideals of mercy and justice in this play," said Toni Dorfman, the play's director and a recent addition to the UMKC faculty. "He's asking whether these concepts are as workable as we all believe. It is not simply the story of Shylock's hatred of Antonio, but of the hatred we all feel for the outsider who we use as a scapegoat. It is a credit to Shakespeare's artistry that there are no villains and no heroes in this play. At one time or the other, each character is an outsider. It is this universality inherent in the play that makes it so compelling and alternately funny and dramatic."

Dorfman, an associate professor of theater, has directed productions off-Broadway and off-off-Broadway, where her credits include "Hot Sauce," "The Duchess of Malfi" and "Present Tense." She co-founded and was artistic director of The Shade Company, a New York City repertory theater. For four years, she also was head of the drama department at the Spence School in New York.

The cast of "The Merchant of Venice" features Peter Sander, head of the actor training program at UMKC and a Hall Family Foundation Distinguished Professor, as Shylock. Carol B. Burton and Robert G. Brand, third-year acting students in the master of fine arts program, will play Portia and Bassanio. Dan Day plays Antonio.

Other major roles are performed by Sally Frontman as Shylock's daughter Jessica, and Martin English as her love, Lorenzo. Daniel Eisenhower plays Gratiano, Bassanio's attendant. Appearing as the magnificoes are Dennis Murphy as Solanio and Nelson C. Williams as Salerio. William G. Warren is Launcelot, Shylock's comic servant. David Brisco Luby plays Old Gobbo, his father. Jan Rogge is Nerissa, Portia's attendant, and Christi Clemons is Lucetta, Portia's serving maid. Portia's other suitors are Christopher Glaze as the Prince of Morocco and Kent Cozad as the Prince of Arragon.

The opaline set and the resplendent Renaissance costumes are designed by Huang Qu-zhi, an M.F.A. design student from Beijing, China. Johan Godwaldt designed the lighting and Robert Marlin, the sound. An original score has been composed by Marvin Sanders. Jennifer Martin has choreographed the period dances. Douglas C. Taylor is the technical director. Lisa K. Anderson stage manages the production.
